The inaugural Dos Pueblos volleyball invitational started back in 1975. The invitational started at Dos Pueblos Sovine gym with just two courts. The tournament is still under one roof, with the use of seven courts at UCSB Event Center. The tournament started with the idea of promoting boys volleyball in the Santa Barbara area. The second year volleyball program at Dos Pueblos began to host a tournament that would grow into a tradition for the scores of schools who have participated over the years. John Cheeley and Don Volpi were the first coaches at DP. While record research continues, complete results have been located from the 1979 competition year forward. 1979 to 1981 Varsity coach Larry Vranish recalls the early years of heated competition between the few volleyball powers of that era. Mickey Cough moved the tournament to UCSB in 1983. Soon after head coach Mike Bersford took over the tradition until he handed it off the current head coach Chris Hughes in 2002. The tournament has grown in size and prestige to its current 33th year.
